

Snippet 2

2. To the unique credit of Buddhism it must be said that throughout its peaceful march of 2500 years, no drop of blood was shed in the name of the Buddha, nor any mighty monarch wielded his powerful sword to propagate the Dhamma and no propagation was made either by force or repulsive methods. Yet the Buddha was the first and the greatest missionary that lived on earth.

-Ven. Narada – Buddhism in a Nutshell